

Dangerous Consumptions Colloquium

Victoria University and Massey University, Wellington, New Zealand

**Preliminary Announcement****

The 14th Dangerous Consumptions Colloquium

We are pleased announce that the 14th Dangerous Consumptions Colloquium will be held on 24th and 25th November 2016 at Victoria University's Kelburn campus. This will be a joint collaboration between the Institute of Criminology at Victoria University and the School of Psychology at Massey University, Wellington.

The Dangerous Consumptions Colloquium draws on social, cultural and critical theory to discuss research on any forms of 'dangerous', 'risky' and contested consumption. We encourage presentations from critical, social and cultural studies perspectives exploring topics as diverse as: alcohol, tobacco, pharmaceuticals, coffee, sugar, illicit drugs, gambling, sex, IVF, surrogacy, the Internet, social media, media forms/popular culture, pornography, human hair, clothing, fossil fuels, food and animals.

The Colloquium runs over two days with a single stream of papers (no concurrent sessions). This gives participants the opportunity to share ideas and understandings from different perspectives and enter into collaborative discussions about dangerous consumptions and the conceptual approaches used to make sense of them.

A call for papers will be sent out in early May 2016 so If you would like to be added to the conference emailing list please email fiona.hutton@vuw.ac.nz. We encourage academics, researchers and students to circulate details of this event within their own relevant networks. We look forward to seeing you at this year's colloquium!

Fiona Hutton and Antonia Lyons
Conveners

